Seen & Heard Around Murray

Never saw the ground so completely wet. It's spongy. (Spongy, let?)

Our White Crowned Sparrow finally made an appearance this morning. Looks like a regular Sparrow, but has black and white stripes on his head with the white one in the center.

President Nixon showed great courage in vetoing the multi-billion dollar HEW bill which congress had passed. His reasons: wrong time, wrong spending, too much, and inflationary.

We believe that more courage is needed today by people in high places than ever before. It is easy to be carried along by the tide of liberalism, fallacious thinking, kooky demands, misplaced loyalties and twisted ideas of rights. It takes backbone, integrity and a knowledge of the real values of life to take a stand today.

Ideas change, viewpoints change, and methods change, but the fundamental values have not changed. High placed officials who believe this and know this and act accordingly have our great respect.

America needs a strong man to guide its destiny in this day and President Nixon is filling this position well, we believe.

The sun is moving back towards the north once more (shortest day was December 21), which means that spots of sunlight are once more reaching the floor at our house.

Lady the inside dog notes this with great satisfaction. During the winter the sun moved from the floor up to the wall where she could not lie in it.

Our granddaughter has achieved a degree of locomotion which is no less than astounding. She moves uncertainly, but surely toward whatever she is moving toward and gets there. She has also developed the ability to sit up. Of course she weaves somewhat in a circular fashion, but is quite proud of her ability.

Concealed Weapons Bill Is Adopted By Senate Yesterday

By GLEN CARPENTER

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — The State Senate, after considerable wrangling and some emotional debate, adopted a bill Monday which would give courts the discretion whether to imprison or fine a person who is charged with carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

The measure would allow the option of imposing a 2-5 year prison term if the person charged is found to be a "thug or criminal," but a fine of $50-$500 if he is a "good citizen" carrying a firearm or other deadly weapon for the purpose of self-protection.

"It protects the good citizen who might have a pistol in his pocket on the way to make a deposit in the bank," said Sen. Charles B. Upton, R-Williamsburg, the bill's sponsor.

A move to recommit the bill was defeated by a 28-4 vote, and the bill was adopted 29-3. Sen. Donald L. Johnson, R - Fort Mitchell, had pushed for recommitment. He contended the Senate should await another measure under consideration which would give the courts the discretion of determining whether or not a person is carrying the weapon for the purpose of committing a felony or uses it during a felony before imposing the imprisonment penalty.

Approved unanimously was a measure which would allow the gift after death of all or any part of the human body to other persons or for medical purposes.

In other action, the upper chamber voted to recommit to the Judiciary Committee a bill which would set-up two penalties for persons convicted to riot or unlawful assembly.

The bills had passed 30-1 last Friday, but Sen. William L. Sullivan, D-Henderson, the lone opposing vote last week, said he felt a mistake had been made. He said if the bill becomes law it would repeal part of the 24-point anti-crime package passed in 1968.

The bill would set penalties of imprisonment for not more than 90 days, a fine of up to $500, or both, for unlawful assembly, riot, or breach of peace. The current crime control law sets penalties of a fine of not more than $5,000, imprisonment of not less than one nor more than five years, or both for riot and unlawful assembly.

There is no current statute regarding breach of peace.

"I am certain we made a mistake," Upton noted and the measure was recalled for further study.

In other Senate action, Sen. Carroll Hubbard, D-Mayfield, introduced SB 154, which would allow the attorney general to sue a firm he believes to have engaged in deceptive practices or misrepresentation of goods or services.

Doctors would be required to use generic names of drugs, in addition to brand names, in prescription written in Kentucky, according to SB 152 sponsored by Sen. William Sullivan, D-Henderson.

Sen. Clyde Middleton, R-Fort Mitchell, sponsored SB 147 which would make all student academic records in public colleges and universities confidential.

Persons would be forbidden from following an emergency vehicle closer than 500 feet under SB 56. The bill, sponsored by Sen. Nicholas Baker, D-Louisville, would also prohibit flashing red or blue lights except on fire, police or medical vehicles.

Nixon Vetoes HEW Measure, Congress Votes Wednesday

By GENE BERNHARDT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has vetoed the $19.7 billion health and education bill, calling it too much money at the wrong time for the wrong things. He asked Congress and the American people not to surrender to inflation.

With the scratch of a pen in front of millions of television viewers, Nixon sent the spending measure back to Congress only a few hours after the lawmakers put it on his desk. His action—the first Presidential veto of a major bill in more than a decade—set up an election year clash with Congress, which will vote Wednesday on whether to overturn Nixon's veto.

The bill would have provided money for the current business year for the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare. Nixon said he objected to it because Congress gave him $1.282 billion more than he asked for, with over $1 billion of that going for education.

He said the goals of the bill were not at issue, but government spending was. He called the measure "the wrong amount for the wrong purpose at the wrong time."

Democrats disagreed. The Committee said Congress could cut enough from other Nixon budget requests to justify increasing the education bill. Congress chopped $5 billion from the $74.9 billion defense spending request — including $1.2 billion from the $20.7 billion weapons spending measure.

Republicans predicted Congress would sustain the veto. Democrats were more guarded. The House will vote Wednesday. If it does not vote to override, there will be no Senate vote. A two-thirds vote in each house is needed to overturn the veto.

The last major veto was by President Dwight D. Eisenhower who on June 30, 1960, rejected an inequitable bill to raise the pay of 1.5 million federal employees by $750 million a year. Both the House and Senate voted to override that veto the next day.

"If approved the increased spending contained in this bill, I would win the approval of many fine people who are demanding more spending by the federal government for education and health," Nixon said. "But it would be surrendering in the battle to stop the rise in the cost of living—a battle we must fight and win for the benefit of every family in this nation."

House Turns Down KUAC Amendment, Finance Bill

By CHARLES PENTECOST

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — The House of Representatives rejected a proposed amendment to a financing bill Monday which would have provided $200,000 to fund the Kentucky Up-American Activities Committee (KUAC) over the next two years.

The vote against the proposed amendment was 47-39, but one "aye" vote later was voided since the member listed as voting was not in the chamber at the time of the roll call.

The controversial committee was created by the 1968 General Assembly, but no funds were provided for its operations. The committee since 1968 carried on its operations under five grants totaling $48,000 from the contingency fund of Gov. Louie B. Nunn.

Rep. Lloyd E. Clapp, D-Wingo, sponsor of the defeated amendment, said after the vote, "I had expected to be defeated — the leadership was against it. But on an issue like this I like to see them counted."

In his remarks supporting the amendment Clapp said he felt that "outside influences" entered into the nation's internal problems.

Forty-six Democrats and one Republican voted against the amendment, while 22 Republicans and 16 Democrats voted for it.

Five representatives were absent and 10 were listed as not voting.

The principal speaker against the amendment to HB 5 was Rep. Peter Conn, D-Louisville, who said "adequate federal agencies now exist to deal with this problem."

Dr. Harry M. Sparks, president of Murray State University, today rejected a resolution of the MSU Student Government, asking for the resignation of Lillian Tate, Dean of Women.

"The Student Council's resolution was not addressed to the administration. When you ask a person to resign, you are addressing the person, not the administration.

"Dean Tate has tenure at Murray State, and she could be dismissed only for legal causes. Thus far, no such legal causes have been established."

Dr. Sparks also said he would apprise the University's Board of Regents of the resolution at its regular meeting tomorrow.

but "there is no reason here to recommend her resignation or dismissal."

The resolution, signed by 17 members of the Student Council, was passed by the group last Wednesday night and presented the following day to Executive Vice-President M. O. Wrath, during the absence of Dr. Sparks.

Among the signers was Max Russell, Murray senior and president of the Murray State Student Government. He also is the student body representative on the Board of Regents.

The resolution contended that Dean Tate "has been a hindrance in the securing of human rights and privileges due the young ladies of this university," and that she "has been a stumbling block to the progress of this university."

Dr. Sparks said the resolution dealt only in generalities. "No Board of Regents and no administration will act on generalities," he said. "We deal only with specifics."

Following an hour's meeting with Dean Tate Monday, Dr. Sparks said she indicated to him that she would not resign.

The President also met Monday with the council leaders to discuss the resolution and advised them at that time that he will not ask Dean Tate to resign.

Russell, who was unavailable for comment this morning, has been quoted as saying the meeting with Dr. Sparks has left the situation unchanged "as far as we know."

Signers of the resolution, besides Russell, were: Tim R. McEnroe, Owensboro junior, representative of the Men's Inter-dormitory Council; Mark R. Hutchinson, Carlyle, Ill., junior, student government vice-president; Thomas W. Shay, Murray senior, concert chairman of the student government; Jay W. TUESDAY — JANUARY 27, 1970

THANKS, DR. SPARKS

WE congratulate Dr. Harry Sparks, President of Murray State University, for his decision to back Miss Lillian Tate, Dean of Women of the university.

The Student Government made the demand that Miss Tate be dismissed from her position as Dean of Women because of her handling of certain incidents at the university.

Frankly we are surprised that the Student Government had the audacity to make such a demand. We would expect a move of this nature to come from some militant group, but we were surprised that the Student Government would take such irresponsible action.

Miss Tate is a well educated, well qualified, mature woman, broadminded enough to put up with much of the hijinks associated with collegians, yet possessed of the astuteness and common sense which well equips her to become cognizant of the point where such hijinks should be stopped.

Miss Tate is a person who has high standards and in some quarters high standards are not too popular.

We do not believe that Miss Tate would discriminate against a person because of color or religion, neither do we believe that she would favor a person because of these factors.

The action of the Student Government bears out what we have believed for some years. Many young people of today have high intelligence, but their judgment is found wanting. This is primarily our reason for opposing lowering the voting age to 18 and opposing voting rights of students on Boards of Regents. These young people simply have not lived long enough to fully assess situations nor to envision the possible ramifications.

There is a tendency today to remove restraints which hamper freedom of action and there is also a tendency of people in some offices to use whatever power they may be authorized to use. They feel that since they have the authority, they should use it, whether needed or not.

We censure the Student Government of Murray State University for their irresponsible move, their careless action to wreck a long career, of a highly qualified person, and their sophomoric outlook on the realism of life.

We thank Dr. Sparks for having the "backbone" to support his staff. We believe that colleges and universities should be run by the presidents and their staffs, not the students.

WITH HELEN STACY

A VISIT WITH BATS IN JANUARY — BALD EAGLES IN FEBRUARY

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A love of nature is one of those ever-present things taken for granted. Last May at a field naturalist wildflower weekend in Red River Gorge (with base headquarters for hikers at Natural Bridge State Resort Park) I learned identification of many wildflowers that had always been known as "pretty little things," plus an acquisition of a well, perhaps enthusiasm would be the word.

In mid-November riding with Dr. Roger Barbour, Bob Funk, Cliff and Peggy Dziech along a snow-covered highway to Tight Hollow in Daniel Boone National Forest, I mentioned my joy in things of nature was growing, "and here I am about to become one of those people who..."

"Go on," said Peggy Dziech of Cincinnati, as everyone in the car became quiet.

"Uh-oh-one of those people who go around exclaiming over nature... No, that's not what I mean, one of..."

Dr. Barbour laughed.

"What I mean is that I don't want to become one of those Ph.D.'ers who go around with a butterfly net."

Of course, Dr. Barbour and the others are greatly enthused about nature, exclaiming about nature and proclaiming her charm and beauty... and have been known to hold a string seine and chase butterflies.

Which is my way of announcing that January 23, 24, 25, we plan to commune, not with butterflies, but with bats, and learn something about cave ecology and the life without light at Carter Caves State Resort Park near Olive Hill (The December 19 opening of two new sectors of Interstate 64 and dedication by Kentucky Highway Commissioner Eugene Goss means rapid traffic highway almost to the park door for travelers from the west.)

"Please bring warm clothing and wet weather gear," advises Jim Butler, chief naturalist State Department of Parks. "Since much time will be spent in caverns, adequate flashlights should be included as this type lighting will not disturb hibernation of bat colonies in the caves."

Some people (I'm fast becoming one of them) will not miss these sessions with nature. During the weekend that emphasized study of natural bridges and arches in the Red River Gorge, Dr. Maxwell Wheeler of Ashland and Dr. Jim Black of Pikeville were presented perfect-attendance awards. Weekend field trips always include flowers, trees, mosses, rocks and birds.

February 13, 14, 15 "A Visit With the Eagles" is scheduled at the Land Between the Lakes with base headquarters at Kentucky Dam Village State Resort Park.

After talking frequently about eagles with Kentucky and West Virginia's noted artist and naturalist Ray Harm, it is interesting to think that in February Bald Eagles and even Golden Eagles might be seen at the Land Between the Lakes where they are regular winter visitors but have not nested since the 1940s.

At present there are something like 500 Bald Eagle nests in the entire United States with an eagle population of about 4000 birds. There is danger of the Bald Eagle becoming extinct though it is protected by federal law.

Naturalist weekends are doing their part to acquaint everyone with nature, its laws and how to respect these natural laws in order to maintain so far as possible a balance in ecology. Conservationists continue to work to preserve this country for future generations — a statement that has almost become a cliché through use, but remains as necessary as the first time it was spoken or written.

There is another inherent danger about these weekends. Like novice me, what starts out like a mild attachment to nature with a temperature of 99 degrees grows like a fever. So beware... but be sure to write or phone for reservations for strangely, there are always more people than room. Write or call the resort park (in these instances Carter Caves and Kentucky Dam Village) or Central Reservations, Kentucky Department of Parks, 593 East Main Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, phone (502) 223-2326.

Ten Years Ago Today

LEDGER & TIMES FILE

Only smoldering blackened water soaked ruins remained today where yesterday morning a whole block of business buildings were thriving. The big building housing A & P Grocery, Murray Martinizing, Sears & Roebuck catalog office, and offices of Senator George E. Overbey burned to the ground. The Main Street Cafe was also damaged.

Calloway County reported 263 cases of influenza last week and was listed among the counties in the heaviest concentration of flu.

Buron Jeffrey, superintendent of Calloway County Schools, spoke at the meeting of the Murray Lions Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Morris, Route One, Lynn Grove, are the parents of a son born at the Murray Hospital.

Bible Thought for Today

But he, willing to justify himself, said unto Jesus, And who is my neighbor? — Luke 10:29.

Jesus answered: The man in need is my neighbor.

Preferred pots

NEW YORK (UPI) — Both pot plant gardening experts and decorating authorities agree that the traditional red clay pot is the best all-around container for plant health and beauty.

The porous walls of the clay pots guard against overwatering, the commonest cause of house plant failure.

Watertight synthetic pots, warns the U.S. Department of Agriculture "tend to collect water and injure plant roots."

That's the principal health reason for recommending clay pots in indoor pot plant garden.

Top decorators, more concerned with the "look" of your pot plant displays, prefer clay pots because of their natural red earth tones, which complement the beauty of house plant collection.

Low Scores 34 Points, Bucks Lose

Even Lew Alcindor needs help once in a while.

Alcindor scored 34 points Monday night but none of his Milwaukee teammates could come up with more than 12 as the Bucks lost to the Philadelphia 76ers, 122-103. The defeat snapped Milwaukee's four-game winning streak and it was only the Bucks' fourth setback in the last 24 games.

Wally Jones, Billy Cunningham, and Jim Washington combined for 78 points for the 76ers, who insured their win by outscoring the Bucks 24-4 midway through the final quarter after Milwaukee had pulled to within 85-84 with 8:42 left to play. Jones led Philadelphia with 29 points while Cunningham was 27 and Washington 22.

In the only other National Basketball Association game, Cincinnati nipped Chicago, 116-115, and Atlanta routed San Francisco, 131-104.

Oscar Robertson scored 36 points, including two free throws with 1:17 remaining, to give the Royals their victory over the Bulls. Robertson's foul shots gave the Royals a 114-113 lead and after Chicago missed a shot, Fred Foster sank two more free throws for Cincinnati with two seconds left to offset Tom Boerwinkle's basket at the final buzzer. Foster finished with 28 points while Clem Haskins paced Chicago with 27.

Atlanta used 30 points by Lou Hudson and 29 more by Joe Caldwell in its triumph over the Warriors. The victory increased the Hawks' Western Division lead to 3½ games over second place Los Angeles. San Francisco, which made only 37 percent of its field goal attempts, was led by Adrian Smith's 15 points.

Odds Are That 'Mike' Or 'Terry' Will Be 1st Pick

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The odds are that the top draft pick in pro football today will be named either Mike or Terry. That's because there are three Mikes among the four most sought-after college football players. The other is Terry Bradshaw of Louisiana Tech.

Quarterback, Mike Phipps of Purdue, along with Bradshaw, had clubs in need of signal callers frantically making 11th-hour trades for high draft picks.

Mike McCoy of Notre Dame and Mike Reid of Penn State are All-American linemen.

Swaps For Draft Picks
Green Bay gained Chicago's No. 2 pick in the first round by trading three players to the Bears. Cleveland acquired Miami's No. 3 pick when it traded flanker Paul Warfield to the Dolphins Monday.

Warfield became expendable when the Browns traded three players to New York for Homer Jones.

For the first time pro football is operating as a single, two-conference, 26-team league. The Pittsburgh Steelers will choose what they consider the best player in the country for them when they select first in the draft. They earned this right by tying Chicago for the world record in pro football, 1-13, and then winning the coin toss from the Bears.

Standings Determine Order
Boston and Buffalo of the American Conference select fourth and fifth in the rotation. The order of drafting was a result of the inverse standings of the 26 teams at the end of the 1969 season. Ties involving 11 teams were settled by coin tosses.

Philadelphia picks Sixth, followed by Cincinnati, St. Louis, San Francisco, New Orleans, Denver and Atlanta. The New York Giants draft 13th, with Houston, San Diego and Green Bay next.

San Francisco has the rights to Washington's first draft and will choose next, followed by Baltimore, Detroit, the New York Jets, Cleveland, Los Angeles, Dallas, Oakland, Minnesota and the world champion Kansas City Chiefs.

Kansas City and Minnesota, the super Bowl teams, are the lone exceptions to the inverse order lineup and draft last.

A total of 442 players will be taken in the 17 rounds, spread out over two days.

West Holds NBA Lead

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first half of the season was just an appetizer for hot-handed Jerry West.

West, helping Los Angeles solidify its hold on second place in the Western Division, scored 147 points in four winning Laker games following the All-Star break to take a firm grip on the National Basketball Association scoring lead.

West averaged 36.75 for that span, giving him a season average of 31.7. He also leads in points scored, with 1,487.

Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia is second at 26.8 and Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee and Elvin Hayes of San Diego are tied for third.

Hayes took over the rebound lead from San Francisco's Nate Thurmond, who announced his retirement Monday. The accident-prone Thurmond was averaging 17.7 rebounds a game for 43 contests when he suffered knee cartilage damage Jan. 16.

With a minimum of 44 games now counting toward the rebound lead, Hayes has 16.2, Wes Unseld of Baltimore is second at 15.0 and Alcindor third with 15.1.

Johnnie Green of Cincinnati has the best field goal percentage, .557; Flynn Robinson of Milwaukee tops the free throw shooters with a .903 percentage, and player-coach Len Wilkens of Seattle leads in assists with an 8.8 mark.

Haywood And Jones Threaten Verga's Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (UPI) — Denver's one-two punch of Spencer Haywood and Larry Jones threatens Bob Verga's league scoring lead and the American Basketball Association record for consecutive victories.

The Rockets can tie Oakland's mark of 16 straight if they beat New York Friday night. Spearheading the bid is Haywood, with a 26.7 scoring average and a league rebounding lead of 19.7 per game. Jones is tallying at a 26.0 pace as the third best scorer in the ABA through last Sunday's games.

Verga of Carolina kept his scoring lead for the third straight week as he clicks along at a 27.4 pace.

Bill McGill of Pittsburgh has the best two-point field goal percentage at .555 and Jeff Congdon, the third sharpshooter with Denver, is tops in three-point field goals at .508.

Kentucky's Darel Carrier leads all foul shooters with an .895 mark and Doug Moe of Carolina is first in assists on his 6.5 average.

No bald Indians—fact or fiction?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever seen a bald Indian? No! That's because they shampoo their hair only a few times a year. I am not an Indian, but I am living proof that this is true. I am in my sixties and I have thick, luxuriant brown hair. People think I dye it, so I have a standing offer of one thousand dollars to anyone who can find one dyed hair in my head.

I shampoo my hair only a few times a year. Most Americans wash the life out of their hair. They scrub it, brush it, tint it, dye it, curl it, straighten it, tease it, spray it, and burn it to a frazzle. No wonder we are becoming a nation of bald women and well into the wig age.

SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR S. F.: The fact that I've never seen a bald Indian, doesn't mean there aren't any. Will a bald Indian please contact this column? [And enclose your picture.]

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married nearly 10 years and we have a real nice family. I have always trusted my husband, but about a month ago he told me that he had propositioned my younger sister who is a very pretty divorcee. He said she turned him down. I told him I'd forgive him if he'd promise never to do it again. He promised, and I really forgave him.

Now last Sunday he came to me with another confession. He said that twice last week when he said he had to work late he was over at my sister's trying to get her to change her mind.

I didn't say much, but of course I was hurt. Now here is the part I can't figure out. My sister was here today and I told her that my husband had confessed to me about how he had been after her. I told her I was proud of her for turning him down, and Abby, she swore with one hand on Mamma's Bible, and the other hand to God that my husband never made one move toward her! I believe my sister. But why would my husband want to tell lies like that?

CAN'T UNDERSTAND

DEAR CANT: He is either sick, and is having hallucinations, or he is well, and is trying to get you to throw him out.

DEAR ABBY: In your column, I read, "CONFIDENTIAL TO M. G. M., I DID WRITE TO PRESIDENT NIXON. HE IGNORED MY LETTER."

Welcome to the club! I know many who have written to President Nixon regarding important matters (including this writer), and we were not even given the courtesy of a "form letter" reply.

Whatever President Johnson's faults may have been, ignoring those who took the time to write to him was not one of them.

On several occasions I wrote to Lyndon Johnson while he was President, and I always received a prompt and courteous reply. True, it may have been written by one of a very large corps of secretaries, but I did receive a reply from the President's office.

In closing, it has been my observation that a truly big man has time to listen to little people. A little man listens to no one. Sincerely,

R. T. MONTGOMERY, SANTA ANA, CAL.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ON THE SPOT" IN ONTARIO: You shouldn't have made a phony fuss over a gift you thought was "hideous." But now that you have, it might be wise to wear it at least once in the presence of the giver. [And for goodness sake, DON'T give it to a mutual friend, even if you think it might suit HER better.]

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

A modern kitchen is much more than a room to house the range, refrigerator and sink. It's cheerful, highly attractive, and a room many families enjoy using at times other than when meals are being prepared or served. In planning a new kitchen or a remodeling project, family preference should be taken into consideration regarding inclusion of space for dining, informal entertaining, extra storage such as utility cabinets; areas for laundry, sewing, meal planning, etc. Extra space and special area requirements should be planned while the overall kitchen layout is being developed. - Mrs. Juanita Amoneit, County Ext. An attractive folding screen can be covered with the same floor covering you use on your floor. Attach either carpeting or hard floor covering to panels of plywood and hinge them together. This will create a very dramatic corner to your room by carrying the color and design almost to the ceiling. - Mrs. Mildred W. Potts, LaCenter, Ky. Phone 665-5671.

If your electric bill is higher in the winter, fewer daylight hours are only one reason. The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture reminds homeowners.

Using five 100-watt bulbs for two extra hours a day will up your bill slightly, but it's the other electrical units you use in winter that account for most of the increase, according to USDA's Rural Electrification Administration. The blower on your furnace probably uses about 40 kilowatt hours a month and its electric control another eight. And you might use a 1200-watt electric heater, and by adding on another 200 to 400 kwh.

Now that the weather keeps you indoors, you're probably spending more time watching television. An extra hour of TV viewing each day might consume an additional 100 kwh a month.

Operating your oven during a day and electric blankets at night will consume even more electricity in the winter months.

All of this could increase your electric as much as $7.00 a month. December through March. - Barletta Wrathe, 209 Maple Street, Murray, Ky. 42071 Phone 753-1452.

The crisp, clean look of fashion is the result of intelligent clothes care. Just as a freshly scrubbed face needs a touch of lipstick and powder to improve it, so your clothes need that extra minute of care. A dress might be stylish and "just right" for you, but if it is wrinkled, slightly soiled or minus a button, the fashionable image is shattered. Care means a few extra minutes with a needle and thread, and a last minute touch of the iron to freshen a closet-wilted dress. The crisp cleanliness of each garment is as important as its style. - Catherine C. Thompson, Hickman, Ky. 42050

Did you eat breakfast this morning? If your answer is "no," then you're probably short-changing yourself on both nutrients and calories. HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by:

The Shows: ABC-TV's new medical series with Robert Young, "Marcus Welby, M.D.," finished No. 1 in the national ratings for the week ending Jan. 11. Following "Welby" in the ratings were "Family Affair," "Gunsmoke," "Laugh-In" and "Hawaii Five-O," a police series that has picked up strongly in popularity since being switched to its late Wednesday time slot.

Danny Thomas will return to television on a weekly basis this fall in a new, half-hour, ABC-TV situation comedy, "Make Room for Granddaddy," a sequel to his old series, which originally was titled "Make Room for Daddy." Thomas also will have an hour variety show on CBS-TV Wednesday, with his guests including Bob Hope, Carol Channing, Dionne Warwick, Juliet Prowse and Tim Conway. NBC-TV's Smothers Brothers special on Feb. 16 will feature Peter Fonda (currently of "Easy Rider" fame), Glen Campbell and David Frye.

The March 7 total eclipse of the sun will be the subject of an hour special on CBS-TV the same day. The title is "Earth in the Shadow of the Moon—The Solar Eclipse." NBC-TV's "First Tuesday" offers a report on the Israeli air force Feb. 3. Same network has also concluded a new long-term arrangement to continue "The Wonderful World of Disney" series, which maintains its popularity despite the death of the cartoonist-executive host.

The Headliners: Vice President Spiro Agnew is interviewed on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation" this Sunday. California Gov. Ronald Reagan visits the same network's Carol Burnett series tonight. Richard Chamberlain, formerly video's "Dr. Kildare," will star in a two-hour production of "Hamlet" on NBC-TV's "Hallmark Hall of Fame" next season. He got good reviews in the role in England last year. Ex-movie star Don Ameche directed the Feb. 17 episode of NBC-TV's "Julia."

Bing Crosby hosts the final broadcast of ABC-TV's "Hollywood Palace" Feb. 7, and the show will offer reruns of performances by Fred Astaire, Ethel Merman, Ella Fitzgerald, Jimmy Durante, Wynne, Martha Raye, the Tijuana Brass, Ray Bolger, Dean Martin and Gene Kelly. Troy

Donahue becomes a regular on CBS-TV's soap opera "The Secret Storm" this week, playing "a baby-faced opportunist." And Jan Sterling has joined another CBS-TV soap, "The Guiding Light," portraying a maid.

Mrs. Carl Evans, the president, conducted the business session.

Question

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Which has more meat, "beef and gravy" or "gravy and beef?"

Sandra Dickson, a food and nutrition specialist for the University of Nebraska, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture requires product labels to list ingredients in order of decreasing volume by weight.

So "beef and gravy" will give more meat for a meal, while "gravy and beef" has more gravy for use in sauces and casseroles.

HEW 'Blacklist' Rapped

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) is still operating under security rules that are widely criticized by some scientists as amounting to blacklists.

Secretary Robert H. Finch has called the rules "archaic." He announced on Jan. 2 his approval of revised procedures for choosing part-time advisers and consultants.

But UPI has obtained a copy of a memorandum telling HEW agency heads the old rules are still in effect for cases already under consideration and that new appointments should be frozen until the new procedures are drafted.

"We just couldn't ignore the information we had built up on those cases," said Sol Elson, an acting deputy assistant secretary.

He said the new rules are difficult to formulate and will not be ready for at least several weeks. One agency head told a reporter last week that he assumed the new rules announced Jan. 2 by Finch would apply to cases already up for consideration. Among other things, Finch promised to scrap the practice of pre-appointment investigations by the department's office of internal security.

Debate Over Laos Is Sharp

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The heavily-censored transcript of a secret Senate session on American involvement in Laos reveals sharp dispute over the U.S. role there, although a heavy consensus against sending in U.S. ground troops is also evident.

The transcript, published yesterday by the Senate, was so heavily censored by the Administration, however, that little more than senatorial rhetoric remained.

Deleted, presumably in order to prevent spilling of military secrets, were all references to the exact amount the United States is spending in Laos, the extent of U.S. bombing in support of the royal Laotian government and the activities of the Central Intelligence Agency.

THE TRANSCRIPT of the closed session held Dec. 15 also disclosed apparent approval of present U.S. air raids in support of Laotian ground troops, although the Senate was told there is no written or verbal commitment by the United States to defend Laos.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.), who has opposed American involvement on the mainland of Asia, supported the air raids.

Mansfield said that if air support requested by Laos were withdrawn "it is quite possible that the 50,000 to 55,000 North Vietnamese who are in Laos, contrary to the Geneva Accords (of 1962) . . . would then find it easy to sweep down into the Mekong to take over the capitals of Luang Prabang and Vientiane."

BUT CHAIRMAN J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.), of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said the United States was in violation of the Geneva Convention.

"I do not believe that is acceptable," he said. "I do not believe it is in international law, that if someone else violates the laws, you are entitled to do it. . . if this was a threat to the security of this country, of course, we would be entitled to defend ourselves."

Cadillac 70

Own a Cadillac?

Of course you can!

1966 Four years old, but its classic beauty and tasteful elegance still give it a distinction that only Cadillac offers. And because it's endowed with Cadillac engineering and craftsmanship, plus so many desirable comfort and convenience features (you'll even enjoy variable-ratio power steering with a 1966 Cadillac) it's likely to offer more driving pleasure and owner satisfaction than most new cars in its price range.

1968 A previously owned 1968 Cadillac offers so much more than many new, fully equipped, medium-price cars. Of course there's Cadillac luxury, elegance, comfort and craftsmanship for you to enjoy. But you'll also be impressed with Cadillac's big 472 V-8 engine and the precision of its standard power steering and power braking. All this plus the pride of ownership a Cadillac provides.

1970 Even the newest model of the world's finest luxury car—a car of uncompromising elegance, comfort and performance—competes in price and economy of operation with cars of far less stature. Thousands of loyal Cadillac owners will testify to this fact, and also to the fact that a Cadillac will traditionally return, on resale, a larger proportion of its original cost than any other car built in the land.

Gould Just Goes and Goes and Goes

By ARMY ARCHERD
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — "Students have to be heard. They have something to say, and it's about time someone up there started listening to someone down here," says Elliott Gould.

The portrayal of "Harry Bailey" by Elliott in "Getting Straight" adds yet another dimension to his skyrocketing career. In a business which is now in the doldrums, with little production activity in U.S.-made films, Gould has been bouncing from one to another without a break.

Gould scored a personal triumph in "Bob And Carol And Ted And Alice" with Natalie Wood, Robert Culp and Dyan Cannon and followed with a smash top billed role in "MASH," and is now starting yet another, "Move."

Gould came across so strong in "MASH" and "Getting Straight," his status is nearly approaching super star status rank and who knows, maybe he'll even surpass wife You-Know-Who? By the way, he still maintains he and Barbara Streisand are still "status quo" which means simply separated at this writing.

IN "Getting Straight," Gould plays a 28-year-old graduate student fighting his way through a crisis of personal identity, badgered by the establishment which sees hope for him — but on its terms.

Urged on by his co-star Candy Bergen, Gould futilely combats the hypocrisies of the educational system in the film. In case you didn't guess — the film concerns student unrest on the campus.

The six-foot-three-inch actor recently celebrated his 31st birthday. Although a few years older than the youth in the film — and those attending college — he is still a contemporary of their society. And is a staunch believer in their demands and wants. But still urges everyone to move somewhat cautiously so as not to bring about disaster to our educational system.

While filming on location at Lane Community College in Eugene, Ore., Gould spent many hours away from the cameras, meeting with the students. Those conclaves resolved around the problems that were confronting the youth of today.

Elliott is quite concerned with campus unrest and demonstrations that are sweeping our schools. While not favoring the violence or riots, Gould does condone peaceful demonstrations.

"MASH," Gould's third film, is a wild comedy plus drama about a team of strange, yet skilled Army surgeons in the Korean War. He plays a kooky Army surgeon with a disdain for military protocol. And much of his dialog is improvised, ad lib.

In addition to these three-in-a-row films, Gould has formed his own production company and will go into action pronto with three more films. Yes, he says he'd hire Barbra for one of them if the role were right. Would she work for him. "Why not?" says he.

Gould is one of the more "natural" actors in the business. He is, obviously, quite ordinary in appearance and unlike other actors, does not dress for effect.

Gould's every-day attire and attitude run hand in hand with the character he happens to play in "Getting Straight." It is one of complete honesty and this is borne out by his very casual dress in both the film and in person.

IT'S ELLIOTT'S performance that is anything but casual. And that is the reason for his quick success in this town where the odds that Barbra Streisand's husband would reach such heights on his own were a million-to-one.

Asked how he made "Getting Straight," he said, "It is a very significant contemporary film, very realistic. And I think what youth is doing is very courageous, and in many places misunderstood."

"I talked to students representing many states and there is just no common pattern which indicates direction by a single movement — such as Communism. In fact, students were happy to hear that our story line didn't connect or associate the campus unrest with the Communist movement. Our picture deals just with the needs of American students in American colleges. It has no political motivation or intent."

And, the film did permit the Brooklyn boy who joined the theater at 18 a chance to go to college, finally!

Subway originator used the old bean

By LEON DANIEL

TOKYO (UPI) — Forty-five years ago a railroad man named Tokujii Hayakawa conducted a one-man traffic survey.

Hayakawa stood on a Tokyo street corner with two bags of beans. When a pedestrian passed he put a white bean in his left pocket. When an automobile went by he put a black bean in his right pocket. His left pocket got full mighty fast.

When Hayakawa had finished counting his beans he told the city fathers that what Tokyo needed was a subway. A lot of people said it was a silly idea.

It wasn't, of course, so in 1927 the turnstiles in the city's first subway began collecting yen.

Tokyo now ranks fifth among the cities of the world in subway mileage. Subway tracks today extend for 73 miles in the world's largest city.

Two and a half million people ride Tokyo's subways each day. People who have ridden subways in New York, London, Chicago, Paris, Berlin and Moscow say Tokyo's subways are as efficient as any in the world. They are also incredibly crowded.

During morning and afternoon rush hours trains operate at two-minute intervals. The cars are clean, well-lighted and well-ventilated but a ride during rush hours can be a harrowing experience.

Late Start

Unlike other great cities of the world, Tokyo got a late start with its subway system. Most of the tracks were laid after World War Two. The London tube was opened in 1863.

But Tokyo is catching up because subway construction goes on here almost around the clock. All the present and planned lines will converge in the gigantic Ginza Station.

Tokyo's subways are considered among the world's safest. Automatic devices stop trains immediately if an operator collapses or is unable to do his job. Automatic systems can control the speed of the trains and stop them at designated platform locations.

Tokyo, unlike New York, does not have subway police but this does not mean the subways are free of crime. Picked pockets are not unusual, but the crime rate on Tokyo subways is low and not considered a major problem.

Some people get an unpleasant sensation when they go underground and Tokyo's subway stations have been designed with this in mind. At the brightly-lit Ginza Station the ceiling is covered with perforated asbestos board to absorb sound.

The lines feed into huge underground shopping centers where you can buy anything from groceries to a set of golf clubs.

Subways seem — and in fact are — more crowded during the winter months because commuters wear heavier clothing.

Japan's ingenious transportation authorities have figured out that seven overcoats take up just as much space as a person, but that piece of research hasn't made Tokyo's harassed commuters feel any better.

The Navajo Indians comprise the largest Indian nation in the United States, with more than 115,000 population.

More than 70 barge lines operate in New Orleans.

TOGETHERNESS seems to be the keynote as Vice President Spiro T. Agnew reports to President Nixon in the White House on his 37,000-mile Asia-Pacific tour.

Military, Civilian Jobs To Be Cut Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon Administration has apparently decided it can reduce the number of men in uniform during the next 18 months until the U. S. military force reaches the size it was before the Vietnam war buildup.

Melvin Laird

This would mean that by mid-1971 there would be 2.7 million men in the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps. In December the troops level stood at 3.35 million and was 3.461 million as recently as last summer.

DEFENSE SECRETARY Melvin R. Laird revealed this outlook when he told a news conference in Los Angeles yesterday that economies during the first two business years for which he was devised the defense budget will result in the elimination of 1.25 million military and civilian jobs.

Laird said "the bulk," presumably more than half or around 700,000 of these jobs, will come from the ranks of the military. Others will come from the civilian employment of the Defense Department and from the payrolls of private defense contractors.

The only firm figures previously released cover the 300,000 men scheduled to be eliminated from the armed forces by next July 1, plus 72,000 civilians to be fired by the same date. In addition, a top defense official has estimated that economies by July 1, 1971 will eliminate approximately 225,000 private defense jobs.

In extending his projection to mid-1971, Laird appeared to be more than doubling all of these figures. He said the full details would be spelled out when President Nixon presents his budget to the next session of Congress.

THE ACTUAL STRENGTH of the armed forces at the beginning of the big Vietnam buildup in 1965 was 2.655 million men. This included 969,000 in the Army, 671,000 in the Navy, 193,000 in the Marine Corps and 825,000 in the Air Force.

At the peak 1968 the military services reached a combined strength of 3.55 million.

WASHINGTON WINDOW

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This is a company town where the more heavily traded commodities are nuances and redundancies.

This is more than the argot of bureaucracy, but the safety of obfuscation. The experienced civil servant knows that the most direct line to trouble is a simple declarative sentence.

As for nuances, diplomats would part with their anchovies and amusing little wines before they would stop using nuances. Delicately indirect phrasing, the merest suggestion of a suggestion — these are the tools of the working diplomat.

All of which makes it difficult at times for a reporter with a working knowledge of ordinarily understandable English to give the public a cogent idea of what the hell is going on.

Word-Spells Change

A laboratory case: Secretary of State William P. Rogers said in a recent television interview that President Nixon's plans to end and get out of the war in Vietnam were "irreversible." To some diplomats and diplomatic reporters who, of necessity, have learned to talk and think like diplomats, the word "irreversible" spelled policy change. After all, the President said in November that if the enemy escalated the war, naturally this country would take another look at its own military posture.

Apparently, all Rogers meant to convey was that Nixon still was determined to scale down the U.S. presence in Vietnam and this was "irreversible." What Rogers left unsaid was the obvious — that Nixon, while embarked on a withdrawal program, has no intention of letting our side get shot up without doing something about it.

Asked about Rogers and the word "irreversible," White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler answered forthrightly. "The point, I think, is that the plan the President is pursuing is a course of action that he is pursuing."

The nuance specialists counted to ten, took deep breaths and started out again. Possibly Rogers was in error by using the word "irreversible."

"I would not take the question in that form because we are dealing with two different questions in two different contexts," Ziegler said. He continued:

States Consistency Of Plan

"What I am stating to you this morning is the consistency of the President's plan, the consistency of our policy regarding Vietnam as the President has previously spelled it out and the fact that the secretary of state was referring to the Vietnam situation as the President has stated it, referring to the plan and the course of action which the President is pursuing and has referred to which contain the three criteria as they relate to withdrawal."

One reporter began to sag dangerously close to Ziegler's log-burning fireplace, muttering that he was feeling a bit thick. Did Ziegler mean, the man asked, that if the enemy mounted a heavy attack, we might slow the rate of withdrawal?

"There have been some interpretations based upon questions I have received, based upon the secretary's statement, that there would be a change in policy," the press secretary said gravely. "What I am saying to you is that this interpretation should not be put on this; That what the secretary was saying is consistent with the plan as the President has previously stated it. He is pursuing a course of action and pursuing a plan and within that plan are the three criteria that relate to withdrawal."

Assemblies stamp project
SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — The Women's Missionary Council department of the Assemblies of God sold approximately 250 pounds of canceled postage stamps, along with some stamp collections, which had been donated to it during 1969.

The sales brought about $1,000, which will be used toward the purchase of books for Assemblies of God Bible training schools. Women's Missionary Council groups in this country and abroad send stamps to be sold for the library fund. Buyers range from school children to professional stamp collectors.

Preaching to painting

TULIA, Tex. (UPI) — Public speaking and preaching have been Kenneth J. Wyatt's life the past 21 years. But today the 36-year-old Methodist minister spends most of his time in the small Texas Panhandle community of Tulia painting Old West scenes of the early 1900s.

Wyatt's sermons are what he describes as half-way between the fire-and-brimstone style of the old days and the modern "here come da judge" type. They are sprinkled with humor. Wyatt began preaching at 14 after graduation from high school. He was licensed as a preacher in the Methodist Church at that time.

The son of an oil field worker turned rancher and building contractor, Wyatt drove his father's roofing truck to and from five area towns around his hometown of Stephenville, Tex., during his first days of preaching. He would conduct services at three or four churches each Sunday — usually preaching the same sermon.

About a year ago Wyatt took leave from the church and moved to Tulia with his wife and two children. He still does public speaking as a member of the national Knife and Fork Club. And, sometimes he preaches on Sunday. But he doesn't have a regular circuit to cover.

Much of his time now is being spent behind an easel drawing. Wyatt sold his first art work several years ago for $10. He has trouble now turning out enough paintings to meet the demand.

But his biggest problem is finding enough time to practice his three favorite professions — preaching, speaking and painting.

Church sells land in Philippines

MANILA (UPI) — The Roman Catholic Church in the Philippines has agreed to sell to the government land reform agency two landed estates with a total of 339 acres for distribution to landless tenants.

A total of 171 farmers cultivating the two church-owned ricelands will repurchase the estates, after they have been subdivided, at cost, the price to be paid over 25 years and at 6 per cent interest annually.

Baptist relief goal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A goal of $160,000 for relief purposes in 1970 has been set by the Baptist World Alliance relief committee, of which the Rev. Dr. R. Dean Goodwin, of Valley Forge, Pa., is chairman.

Dr. Frank H. Woyke, associate secretary of the Baptist World Alliance, reported that his office distributed $103,414 for emergency and rehabilitation projects in 15 countries in the first ten months of 1969.

Winning older

NEW YORK (UPI) — The oldest thoroughbred to win a race is generally assumed to have been John Burwell, who at age 19 went to the post 19 times, won once and earned $570.
